

Writing and Publishing Retreat
with
Poets & Writers Editor in Chief
Kevin Larimer

September 22 - 28, 2024 CHAMONIX, FRANCE

Kevin Larimer is the editor in chief of Poets & Writers (pw.org) and the coauthor, with his wife, Mary Gannon, of The Poets & Writers
Complete Guide to Being a Writer: Everything You Need to Know About Craft, Inspiration, Agents,
Editors, Publishing, and the Business of Building
a Sustainable Writing Career.

Mary Gannon, the executive director of the Community of Literary Magazines and Presses (clmp.org), will also be available for consultations.

Kevin's retreat is for writers in any genre who are ready to make a strategic plan for getting their work published and building a sustainable writing career.

Come prepared for an unforgettable experience.

Each morning we will gather for three hours to learn about every aspect of publishing, establish goals and expectations for finding and sharing our work with readers, and outline a step-by-step plan for approaching publishers with our work.

We will develop a deeper understanding of our own writing as we learn how to write about ourselves and our own projects. In these daily workshops we will create compelling elevator pitches, query letters, plot summaries, and author bios that will entice potential publishers.

Each student will receive a private critique and planning session.

Students will leave with a personal publishing plan and everything they need to identify markets for their work and submit it to literary magazines, small presses, and literary agents as well as writing contests, grants, and residencies.

This is a rare opportunity to learn from publishing experts who have over twenty-five years of experience in the business and an unrivaled understanding of the literary landscape.

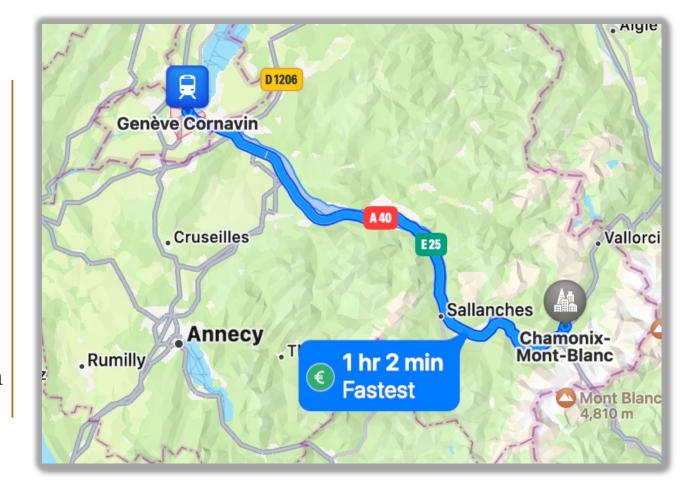

Spend a week focused on achieving your goals for your writing.
